A GOOD RIDDANCE.

Deadly Shooting Scrape Between New York Roughs.

Two Notorious Criminals Settle an Old Grudge—Opening Fire Upon One Another at Night Without a Word of Warning—After Several Shots Both Fall Dead in Their Tracks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A shooting affray which resulted in the killing of two notorious criminals occurred early in the morning in the saloon kept by Tom Shaug, Draper, No. 466 Sixth avenue. From what can be learned it appears that one John Walsh alias Johnny the Mick, with several other notorious characters was drinking at the bar, and while so engaged Johnny Irving, the graceless nephew of ex-Alderman Leask, in company with Bill Porter, another notorious criminal and fast friend of Irving's entered by the side door.

It is said that while Porter was in prison in Brooklyn, Walsh made a disparaging remark, which was taken to Porter, and the latter swore to have revenge. Others say that after Porter broke jail in Brooklyn, Walsh betrayed him. Irving immediately on seeing Walsh, and without a word of warning, commenced firing on him. Walsh started for a back room, Irving following, firing as he went. Walsh tried to dodge between the ice box and the end of the bar, while he was retreating, and then appears to have drawn his revolver. Then he dashed into the billiard room, where he supposed both fired at short range. As if some one had fallen, followed by another of similar character, was then heard, and the firing ceased. The occupants of the bar-room, who had secreted themselves in an out of the way nook, then rushed into the billiard-room where a terrible sight met their gaze. Irving was lying stone dead near the north wall of the room with his head toward the door. Walsh lay south of him writhing in the last agonies of death. Each man's pistol lay near him. Irving's fatal wound was near his right ear. Walsh had a fatal wound in the left side, and another bullet had plowed through the middle knuckle and upper part of his left hand. Irving's pistol was a Smith & Wesson, of heavy caliber and of most recent make. Four shots had been discharged from it. Walsh had a Forehand & Wadsworth pistol, and one chamber alone was empty. What Porter did after the firing of the first shot by Irving no one appears to know, but as soon as the firing ceased he dashed out the side entrance, and was running across the street, when Patrick Leary, who followed him and called upon Detective Hickey, who had been attracted by the firing, to arrest him. Hickey immediately seized the flying fugitive, and thrusting his hand into Porter's right overcoat pocket, found a self-loading Smith & Wesson revolver of similar pattern to Irving's. Three cartridges had recently been discharged from it. Porter was taken to police headquarters.

Officer McCool, who had the post on which the murder was committed, arriving on the scene gave the alarm, bringing Officers Price, Gallagher and Fay to his assistance. Leaving these three to guard Draper's saloon and prevent any one from leaving it, he proceeded to the station house and reported the case to the Sergeant. Captain Williams, who was in on duty at the time, hearing of the tragedy hastily dressed and with a squad of men proceeded to the saloon when he found all the witnesses to the affair except one man, named Fay. The other witnesses taken into custody were Draper, the proprietor, the notorious bank burglar, Red Leary, and four others, Patrick Leary, Hays, Vosburg and Roth. They were all locked up in the Twenty-ninth Precinct Station. The bodies of Irving and Walsh were carried on stretchers to the dry room of the station house. Here they were searched by the order of Captain Williams. Irving, whose face was attenuated but wore a smile, had a heavy mustache and stubby beard. He wore a suit of Bannockburn tweed, a dark grey overcoat and derby hat and gaiters. In his pockets were $4, a gold watch and chain, a gold scarf pin collar and cuff buttons, two keys, a hotel check and a memorandum book. Walsh wore a full, fiercely red beard. His features had a stolid and stern expression. He had on a diagonal coat and vest of fashionable cut, dark purple trousers, a summer overcoat of diagonal cloth and a derby hat. In his pockets and possession were $107.80, a gold watch and chain, a gold shirt stud, a cameo ring and cameo sleeve buttons, four rings, a key and comb. The detained witnesses looked unconcerned at the dead men, around whom they formed a semi-circle, and now and then cracked ghastly jokes. Coroner Martin, who was summoned, held a preliminary examination. All those found in the saloon were examined and their evidence detailed the circumstances of the shooting as given above, but no light was thrown on Porter's action during the shooting. The witnesses all stated that they got under cover and did not see what he did.

Coroner Martin, at the conclusion of the testimony, allowed Draper and Leary to go, and a permit was given to allow the removal of the bodies to the Morgue. Captain Williams, in searching Draper's saloon, found a bullet that would fit no pistol but Porter's.

Ferryboat Collision.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Two ferry boats came into collision on the North River last night. They were the Pavana, of the Erie Railway, and the Weehawken, of the Hoboken Line. Each pilot attributes the collision to the carelessness of the other. Captain Spicer, of the Weehawken, has preferred a complaint against those in charge of the Pavana. Several persons were slightly hurt, but none were killed.

NEW CABLES.

A Company Formed With Ex-Postmaster General James as President.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A new cable company, which probably will be called the Merchants, has been formed for the purpose of laying two cables between this country and England. Ex-Postmaster General James has accepted the Presidency of the company. The Board of Directors includes representatives of prominent business houses of this country and Europe, and among them are David A. Bingham, of David Bingham, of Liverpool; A. D. Strauss, of A. D. Strauss & Co., also a foreign firm; E. R. Livermore, of E. R. & R. B. Livermore; John F. Plummer, of Pomeroy & Plummer; John H. Herbert, of Herbert & Allen; Wm. H. Guion, of Williams & Guion; S. A. Quinlan, and Alexander P. Rice, ex-Governor of Massachusetts. The capital stock of the company will be $6,000,000 and bonds will be issued for a like amount. No contract has been completed for the building of the cables, but negotiations are approaching, it is said, a successful termination. The cables are of a new kind and possess peculiar advantages, directors of the company assert, over any cables now in operation. The cable will be landed on Long Island, but the landing on the English side has not yet been selected.

ADA ATKINSON.

Military Called Out to Protect Her Murderer.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—A despatch from Fowler, Ind., at two this morning says: At 12:30 a. m. the mob began to gather at the jail again, but no violence was attempted. It was thought that Joe Atkinson, an uncle of the murdered girl, would appear with a company from Warren county, but the alarm proved to be false. About twenty men were on duty in the jail, but they are not frightened. Another despatch from Lafayette, Ind., says: In compliance with a request of Sheriff Scanlon, of Benton county, for assistance, Adjutant General Camahan, late last night, ordered out Company C, of this city, with orders to report Wednesday morning. They will be taken to Fowler on an early train. The Adjutant General is now here.

Interesting Will Case.

JAMAICA, L. I., Oct. 17.—The Surrogate of Queen's county has rendered an important decision in regard to the Miller estate valued at $50,000. Dr. Wm. Miller, of New York, had four daughters at the time of his second marriage. He gave his last wife deeds of real estate and left her all his property in his will, thus disinheriting his daughters. After his death Mrs. Miller, who had no children, adopted a girl and named her Lillie May Miller. Mrs. Miller made a will bequeathing all of her estate to the adopted child. She had no heirs. Lillie May, who was also without heirs, died suddenly of diphtheria. The Surrogate now decides that the property reverts to Dr. Miller's four daughters by his first marriage.

An Actress' Dash.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Mlle. Nixon has ineffectually left the Maurice Grau Opera Company, and is about to go to San Francisco with a young man whose attention she attracted while playing under Mlle. Aimée at the Fifth Avenue Theater. The lady was under a $3,000 forfeit in case her engagement was broken, and this amount was paid by the lover and the actress was given her freedom. Mr. Grau has now to hunt a new Bocaccio.

Epidemic of Malignant Diphtheria.

VERONA, Wis., Oct. 17.—Malignant diphtheria has broken out in this little town and the surrounding country with deadly results. The sole remaining member of the family of Thomas Stewart, only last Saturday a prosperous and healthy farmer, is dying. He and his three daughters were buried yesterday. Several other deaths have occurred. The disease is spreading and a panic prevails.

A Bad Blow to Manitoba.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 17.—Reports from the wheat crop in the Manitoba district show a bad state of affairs, the crop having been frozen in the milk and rendered valueless. The crop was abundant enough and the farmers had great hopes, but it is now doubtful whether the country north of the Canada line can be depended upon for anything like permanent crops.

The Defaulting Ironing Bank Teller.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 17.—W. S. Kirker, the teller of the Second National Bank at Ironton, and whose suspicious absence since Saturday attracted an investigation, is discovered to be a defaulter to the extent of $10,000, and to have taken with him over four thousand of his own securities, held by the bank to cover his notes. The bank has sent detectives after him, but with little hope of securing his arrest.

Murdered by Highwaymen.

LONG BEACH, L. I., N. Y., Oct. 17.—Wm. Nelson, a respected resident of White Bridge, aged 63 years, was waylaid by three unknown ruffians as he was returning from church at Branchville last Sunday evening, robbed of his watch and about $18 in money, and brutally beaten. He was found lying senseless in the woods yesterday morning and died last night. There is no clue to the murderers.

A Brute Gets Off With a Ridiculous Sentence.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Ex-Policeman Maurice McNamara, who has been on trial for the past two days on a charge of clubbing to death the sailor John Smith, on Aug. 29, was found guilty this morning of manslaughter in the third degree. The punishment is one year imprisonment and a fine of $500. The verdict took every one in the court room by surprise.

BOSTON'S FORGER.

The Two Halperts Who Are Under Arrest.

Mysterious Movements of Two Men Supposed to be Brothers—Officers on the Way to San Francisco—The Texas Halpert and His Antecedents.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—A special from San Antonio, Texas, says: In the District Court yesterday the habeas corpus case of Robt. Halpert, alleged to be implicated in the forgery of a $50,000 check on Kidder, Peabody & Co., of Boston, came up and was postponed until the return of the Boston officers from San Francisco, where Halpert has a brother who is thought to be the actual perpetrator of the forgery, and who is also under arrest. Judge Moonan vacated the original bond of $100,000, and Halpert is now under a second bond of like amount. A correspondent had a conversation with F. Gross, of the firm of Gross & Co., bankers here, at whose instance Halpert was arrested. His first attempt to obtain money here was made on Lockwood & Kampman's bank, but they refused him. He then applied to Gross' for 100,000 marks which he desired to take to Mexico and dispose of there to merchants doing business with Europe. He also expressed a desire to purchase $3,000 in Mexican gold, which made his demand aggregate $27,000. Shortly after his departure from the bank it occurred to Mr. Gross that this man might be the much wanted Boston forger. When he appeared and was known under the name of Dewey the officers were put after him, but for three days were unable to find him. He was seen on the fourth day by Mr. Gross' son, who followed him and secured his arrest. The name of Halpert which he gave was telegraphed to Boston, and luckily, just at that time, it was learned that Dewey, who had operated in Indiana and elsewhere, was really one Halpert, and this was supposed to be the man. About this time another Halpert was arrested in San Francisco. The Boston firm ordered both to be held, and say they wanted the men more than the money they had lost. Robert Halpert held here is beyond doubt a brother of Halpert, alias Dewey. It is also concluded on the best of grounds that the brother here has been operating with his brother now under arrest at San Francisco, and the money desired to be negotiated for here was actually based on the results of the Boston leather forgeries, which aggregate about $100,000. Robert Halpert will have no difficulty in proving that he has been constantly in this city for many months past, and he is backed by many wealthy Israelites here who regard him as innocent, and so the question of his connection with the forgeries depends upon proving that he has acted as an accomplice.

Mr. Warden's Troubles.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—George Warden, the defaulting Secretary of the River Plate Bank, was committed for trial yesterday. He was subsequently brought into court as a witness against John Walters, the broker who was arrested on Saturday charged with stealing and receiving bonds which had been deposited with the bank. Warden's testimony showed enormous recklessness in stock gambling. He charged Walters with having incited him to abstract and dispose of the securities of the bank and claimed that to Walters' influence alone was the defaulting due.

Cape Cod Ship Canal.

SANDWICH, Mass., Oct. 17.—Assistant Engineer C. M. Thompson, of the Cape Cod Ship Canal, arrived here this morning with one hundred men to be employed on the Canal. Another one hundred workmen are expected in one or two days. Work will commence to day on the Barnstable bay side, at which location the first $25,000 will be expended. The company has bids out for the construction of the iron bridge that is to span the Monument River. The structure is to be 240 feet in length, with two railway tracks and ways for vehicles and pedestrians.

Sudden Case of Insanity.

QUINCY, Mass., Oct. 17.—John Mahan, a section hand on the Old Colony Railroad, jumped through the window of his sleeping room yesterday morning and fled into the woods clad in nothing but his night clothes. Parties started in search of him, but nothing was heard from him until noon, when he was seen to jump in a pond at Randolph, eight miles distant, and was rescued from drowning. The cause of his insanity is not known.

Death of James Lloyd Greene.

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 17.—James Lloyd Greene, a prominent manufacturer and for several years Mayor of the city, Republican candidate for Governor in 1875, and intimately connected with various business and public interests, died suddenly yesterday at Saranac Lake, Adirondac mountains, of pneumonia, aged 56 years. He had been up in the Adirondacs for several weeks on a hunting tour.

A Bunked Farmer.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 17.—A farmer from New Berlin, while intoxicated last night was induced by a saloon keeper to sign a paper transferring to him $1,700 in the Second Ward Bank. The money and other valuables have been withdrawn from the bank and the bunked granger has no redress.

ARIZONA'S WEALTH.

Synopsis of the Recent Report of the Governor.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Governor Tritle, of Arizona, has submitted a report to the Secretary of the Interior concerning the period of two fiscal years to June 30, 1883. He states that there are now 75,000 people in the Territory with a taxable property of $20,000,000. He regards the causes that have heretofore operated to check the progress of the Territory in advancement as well under control. He considers the country properly adapted to cattle raising. The mineral resources of the Territory are rich, but comparatively undeveloped. It is no unusual matter to have silver ore assay from $1,000 $5,000 to the ton. The production of gold and silver was $9,298,267; the copper production was 15,000,000 pounds. The number of cattle in the Territory is about 280,000 head, an increase of 300 per cent in the past three years. He speaks of the presence of the Apache Indians as a constant menace to good order, a source of continual apprehension, and a drawback to settlement. He renews previous suggestions contained in the messages of his predecessors respecting needed changes in the laws governing the Territory.

WALL STREET EXCITED.

The Semi-Panic in the New York Stock Market.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The demoralization in the New York stock market is creating great excitement here. The offices of Schwartz & Dupe, J. T. Lester & Co. and other large brokers are packed to the doors with excited throngs of speculators and investors watching the posting of quotations with apprehension.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The stock market opened weak and the entire list was raised throughout the morning, causing an unusually sharp falling off in figures. At noon quotations showed a drop of 1 to 13 per cent, but there was a subsequent recovery of 1 to 2 per cent, on reports that a combination of capitalists had been formed to check the downward movements and to sustain values. At the time of writing the market was steady.

A FEARFUL BRUTE.

His Ferocious Assault Upon Blind-Room Girls.

ROCK ISLAND, Oct. 16.—Last midnight the bed-room of three dining-room girls of the Rock Island House was entered by an unknown scoundrel, who, on his bare proposals being repulsed, drew a knife, and attacked the girls. They struggled for some time and finally escaped by jumping out of the third story window to the pavement below. They were all badly hurt and one is not expected to live. The brute is in custody.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

While Running Rapidly a Railway Locomotive Explodes.

OSKALOOSA, Ia., Oct. 17.—A frightful catastrophe resulted from the explosion of the boiler of a freight locomotive within five miles of this city. The entire train of nineteen cars was thrown from the track by the concussion while running at a high rate of speed. The cars toppled over on both sides of the track and were all demolished. Nothing tangible remains of the engine or of the engineer and fireman, names unknown, who were in the cab and were blown to atoms, pieces of their bodies being found in all directions. The conductor of the train and one brakeman, who were in the caboose, were fatally injured. The financial loss to the railroad company will exceed $30,000.

A Speck at Railroad War.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 17.—A special to the Times from Connellsville, Pa., says: A speck of railroad war darkened the peaceful horizon of Connellsville to-day. The Baltimore & Ohio Company finished laying a double track last night on ground belonging to the Borough. The Council at noon to-day put a large force of men to work to remove this track, and they were interfered with by the B. & O. people, who ordered out several hundred workmen from their shops with engines to hold possession of the track. At two o'clock the Borough made another attack and were again repulsed, but succeeded in arresting five of the railroaders. At three o'clock when the Borough people were preparing for another attack, a telegram from T. M. King, General Superintendent of the B. & O., suggesting a meeting with the Council to-morrow, to settle the matter amicably.

Lynching in North Carolina.

STATESVILLE, N. C., Oct. 17.—A white man named John Redman and a negro named Charles Campbell, got into a difficulty as the result of an old feud. Campbell fired three shots, the second killing Redman instantly. The first struck a bystander inflicting a painful, though not serious wound. Campbell was arrested and placed in jail. Late Monday night a party of thirty unknown men took Campbell from jail and hung him to a tree a half mile out of town. The lynchers did their work so quietly that but few of the inhabitants of the town knew of it until this morning, when the lifeless body of Campbell was discovered.

An "Ad" for Lillian.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 17.—Miss Lillian Spencer, the actress, arrived at her home to-day. She has recovered from her attack of insanity and will rejoin her company to-night. She came here to see her mother and her baby who are ill.

Sherman's Successor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Mayor Edison to-day appointed as successor to Wm. P. Sherman, Commissioner of Accounts, removed from office a few days ago, Mr. Andrew B. Martin, an expert accountant.
